

---

A CARD.—From the symptoms existing throughout the city yesterday, a heavy run upon our Bank to-day is inevitable. Therefore, out of justice to our numerous depositors and friends, who are willing and anxious to assist us, and who would therefore suffer the greatest inconvenience in case of a continued run, we deem it inexpedient to open our doors this morning.

R. K. SWIFT, BROTHER & JOHNSTON.

Chicago, September 30, 1857

We are making out a statement of our affairs and so soon as it is completed our friends shall be made acquainted with the course we intend to pursue.

R. K. SWIFT, BROTHER & JOHNSTON.

Chicago, October 1, 1857.